

CROSSWORDS: FAMOUS OPTICIANS | PHOTONIQUES SPECIAL EOS ISSUE

SEE SOLUTION
ON OUR WEBSITE

- |   |  |    |                                     |    |   |
|---|--|----|-------------------------------------|----|---|
| 1 | He illuminates far off                               | 9  | He turned the World into equations  | 19 | Colors forever!                             |
| 2 | He goes the shortest way                             | 10 | The elementary source               | 20 | He pulls the light to pieces                |
| 3 | Does he have an accent?                              | 11 | There is no picture!                | 21 | Tasty with fried eggs                       |
| 4 | Not an expert swordsman,but a usefull knife-edge | 12 | He combs the light with fish bones  | 22 | A unique spot!                              |
| 5 | No more reflection beyondhis preferred angle     | 13 | He needs two arms for his job       | 23 | As sly as a fox!                            |
| 6 | He rotates mirrors                                   | 14 | Snell's best friend                 | 24 | For him, everything is a wave!              |
| 7 | Better in pairs                                      | 15 | World harmony!                      | 25 | Father and son, evenly genius               |
| 8 | Such a blue sky, my lord!                            | 16 | He uses mirrors for conjuring trick | 26 | He illuminates cities                       |
|   |  | 17 | Rotating sugar cubes                | 27 | He draws the meridian                       |
|   |  | 18 | The english one for "Cards"         | 28 | A line on the right, and a line on the left |